The line that separates sensation and imagination is really thin. The spaces outside and inside become visible through the embodiment. Body as a primary tool. Relationships. Symbols.

I stay with the deep feeling that what we mediate in being a body and in relationships with elements shows something that cannot be conceptualized, or even verbalized.

We can just simply try to attempt those actions and being kind towards ourselves and the achieved result. Motion, movement and life, where do they cross?
